

SENATOR WESELY: Two.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: That's it. I don't have it before me, but I think a Class I misdemeanor might can carry a $1,000 fine up to...oh, Senator Pirsch gave it to me. Class I misdemeanor, maximum of not more than one year imprisonment or a $1,000 fine, or both, no minimum. A Class III, maximum three months in prison, or $500 fine, or both, no minimum.

SENATOR WESELY: Okay, all right, thank you.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: I didn't know you had such an interest in the criminal law, Senator Wesely, but I'm glad to see it developing.

SENATOR WESELY: I'm learning.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Senator Higgins, please.

SENATOR HIGGINS: Thank you, Mr. President. Senator Chambers, would you yield to a question, please.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Mr. Chairman, if the two opponents have agreed, why so many questions? But I'll answer.

SENATOR HIGGINS: Because, Senator Chambers, I've learned, after five years, some of your tricks. In this amendment what you are doing is simply taking what was in the statutes already and putting it back.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Right.

SENATOR HIGGINS: You are putting the penalty back to what the original statutes were.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Right.

SENATOR HIGGINS: Thank you, Senator Chambers.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Quite welcome.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Senator Chambers, would you like to close?

SENATOR CHAMBERS: (Response inaudible.)

SPEAKER NICHOL: Okay, the question is shall the bill be
